Having heard nearly two years ago reports most damaging to the character of Mr. Wells, I was determined not to run with him again, and this fact I bublicy stated. The facts as published referred to, were not in my possession until recently, nor did I know that the reports about Mr. Wells were substantially true until the reception of the letter above mentioned. But having made strong assertions in that connection before the receipt of this letter, and having recently returned from a visit, "to my Mother "in the mountains of Georgia, reports were being circulated against my own character, and knowing their origin, I felt that self-respect demanded, and that it was due this community and the people of this county that I should investigate the facts in Mr. Wells' case and make the result of that investigation public. I have done it, and the facts are before you as contained in the letter of the J. sper county gentlemen.

THE BOOUS CONVENTION.

Col Hammond then went for the greenback mass meeting in Atlanta, and raised the ristoles of the crowd to the highest pitch by his ludic-rous accounted that designifully mixed up affair. He pictured it in words that told as wively the farcical character of the start as cond the lines of a Cruisshark in their est quent estire and ride icules of figuras snams.

He said he interpendents had put some good things in their pistform, just as the davil quotescripture when he wans to catch some unwily Christian. He went for them upon their chaingang business, and left that piak tof their piatiorm in a condition to use fur tooth picks.

In closing he referred to his competitor, and in a shrewd, left-banded compitment, took the stuffling and the speech of that gemueman.

was then introduced by Hon. John D. Stewart, and was received by his friends with marks of welcome

Coionel Arnold proceeded upon his usual time and for some minutes held the audience in good humor and apparently well interested. When he began to attack the convention and the record of his competitor, the Hammond men became indignant and such an uproar books out in the hall as Griffin has never seen in years. At this point Col. Stewart interfered and sake! ine people to sit down and hear Colonel Arnold as they had Colonel Hammond. This served to quiet them and Colonel Arnold had no further difficulty in concluding uls remarks.

Clonel Arnold introduced some new charges against Colonel Hammond, as the champion of croporations and monopolies, and gave to the canvass a still stronger personal character.

The movement of the United States troops from Chattanooga to this city shows the faith of the government in Atlanta's perfect safety. For several days past there have been senseless rumors on our streets as to the possible or actual appearance of the fever in our midst. Why wasn't Mr. Arnold the first choice of this fine convention of seven? Why was the nomination offered to Thurman before Arnold had an opportunity to grab at it? These things are vary puzzling to the average mind, and the public would like to have some light on the subject. Let us hear from the members of the convention. Even a card from George Mc-Kinney would be interesting.

THE REPUBLICAN PROGRAMMS IN THE

The Atlanta Republican (not Bryant's paper, the Georgia Republican,) asserts that the republicans are com-mitted to the support of Dr. Felton, and "will vote for him in spite of his record, in order that they may split the party in the district and break up its ganization -an organization so compact and solid that so long as it remain anbroken will utterly prevent republican re-organization, the promulgation of republican ideas, and the accom-plishment of any republican work." This is candid, to say the least. The two republican papers printed here—one edited by Bryant, and the other edited by W. L Clark are not agreed as to the programme t be carried out by the radicals in the seventh district, but it appears that Bryant has the inside track, and hence he is supporting Holtzclaw, and will continue to support him, while Clark will support Dr. Felton. It is hard to say which is most threatening to the democracy of the country, the disorganization of the democracy promised by the republican support of Felton, or the the danger of Hol zclaw's election. Both are threatening; both are danger-ous; both are intended to pave the way to ultimate republican success; both are to be deplored. What will the democrats do? Will they persist in supporting the independent candi-Clark and Bryant?

THE PEOPLE AND THE INDEPENDENTS

To our mind, it was a very bad move on the part of the independent greenbackers to place the democratic party ranks of the democracy! As we have said before, no intelligent person can have any hope of success for the greenback party as an independent organization, and those who are now favoring the movement in this district are doing so with the deliberate intent of breaking down the democracy. The consolation is, however, that the honest voters cannot be deceived by the efforts of weak demagogues and small politicians. They cannot fail to perceive and appreciate the fact that greed for office is the lever which moves the leading independent greenbackers to cut loose from the democs calculated to racy, and, with only a vague hope of

We have two candidates for congress in this district. Both are democrats. Nei her is the nominee of the convention. Of the two gentlemen in the field, we desire the election of Hon. H. R. Of the canvas money talks coldly, dispassionately and without a single glow of feeling We doubt whether the bitterest opponent of Mr. Harris will wager a doll against his winning the race. Ther is no reason, however, for the contes to consist of harsh words, imputation and heated argument. Men can give their reason coolly and caim ly. The question is wholly which one of the two will make the most useful member. We believe Mr

Harris will, and hence we support hir to the best of our ability. There is n backers to place the democratic party on the defensive with respect to their methods of bringing about rehef for which the people are clamoring. How much easier it would have been for them to have remained within the ranks of the democracy! As we have as good as sent. I is as easy to give valid reasons, if there be any, and not fly off at a tangent and ruin all. There are no principles at stake, only a preference of men. Surely each canvote for his favorite without quarreling about it. We have for weeks studied the bent of the Muscogee mind and are confident they prefer Col. Harris, and that this county will give him a majority of votes. The people are generally right. The northern and eastern states find it to their advantage to keep good men in congress for a long period. The house listens to but few speeches, and they must be extraordinary.

In the committee rooms influence tells, and he who has been there longest has most weight. The mere fact of his constituency approving their member every two years success, attempt to involve the country in the ruin which would follow another republican victory. The people are not fools. They may be the victims of demageguery for awhile, but it is impossible to deceive them for any great length of time. Neither Arnold, nor Thurmar, nor George McKinney can convince the veters of the fifth district that the organized democracy is not as thoroughly in favor of financial reform thoroughly in favor of financial reform as the so-called independent green-backers, and, if we are to judge from the reports we are receiving from the lower portion of the district the people are already becoming thoroughly disgusted with the fallacy of the movement, and this feeling will grow and some similar occasion educes a like effort. Savannah News: Yesterday morning about half-past ten o'clock, the horse attached to the wagon of Mr. J. G. Butler, whilst standing at the corner of Perry street iane and Jefferson street, became frightened and ran off. The driver was in the act of taking out some white lead at the time, and had the tail of the wagon down. When the horse started he enceavored to jump into the wagon, with the view of seizinto the wagon, with the view of seiz-ing the reins, but was unsuccessful, the horse continued down the lane and the wagon knocking against an old colored man named Wilnam Jones, who was walking close to the fencing, threw him down, the wheels passing over his leg and breaking it. He was conveyed to his home on Siewart sireet, where sur-gical attendance was kindly procured for him by Mr. Butler as soon as he was apprised of the secident.

The law is undoubtedly that a debtor may ordinarily give a preference to one creditor over other creditors where this year, have received the sum of $40,000. Twenty thousand were paid over on the 23d of May. The amount shows most excellent financiering on the part of Colonel G. W. Adams, the present excellent general superintendent.

At twenty minutes to three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr James Kivlin, one of Columbus' oidest and most respected citizens, breatled his last. He was known throughout the state, having lived in Georgia the larger portion of his life. He was born in 1793; was reared in Philadelphia, Pa., where he served his time as a tailor. In 1822 he removed to Augusta. Ga., then to reared in Philadelphia, Pa., where no served his time as a tailor. In 1822 he removed to Augusta, Ga., then to Clinton, in 1826, and to our city in 1828. During this time he followed the tailoring business. A short time after he came to our city he married a daughter of George W Dilliard, then a citizen of Columbus. After following his trade for some time he concluded to change his business, and opened the "Sans Souce" salcon, with which for years he was most coessful. It has retained the name given it by Mr. K. ever since, generally among our people but a few years ago, was changed to Merchants' Exchange. Old citizens often till of Mr. K's energy in days gone by. He was a man that prided himself on nestness, and one stored is said to have kept one of the neatest saioun-resourants in every respect, having the best that money could procure. He was a roun of strong likes and dishikse. He has been since the first settlement of this city a leading and zealous Mason, and occupied the highest positions in every branch of the south.

This much respected citizen was ever in Columbus, which was established in 1834.

The wide gate of La Requette is thrown open. All hats are raised. The sad procession comes slowly. Two policemen are in advance. Then, solemnly, Monsieur de Paris. Then the abbe, walking with his back to the guillouine, pressing the crucifix to the lips of the condemned, who is assisted, almost carried, by two aids in blue blouses. Barre lost all energy. At every step he grew weaker. From the great to the guillouine is twenty. At every step he grew weaker. From the gate to the guillotine is twentythree steps, as your correspondent counted them. When half way Barre sank, and would have falleu but for the firm arms of the attendants. His face was almost blue, his lips protruding. The abbe kissed him on both cheeks The abbe kissed him on both cheeke, and passed hurriedly to the gate. Barre was in front of the scaffold, unconscious apparently. Monsieur de Paris took his shoulders, pressed him on the bascule, threw him over, saw that the head was in the groove, and touched the button. Barre found peace at last, and justice was avenged.

There was no exultation when the ax fell, nothing like rowdyism. A cry arose, but it was an instinctive cry of horror, repeated and intensified when, after the ax had fallen on Barre, it was hauled into place, red and dripping, to await Leliez. But in forty seconds all was over, and all that remained for us was to sweep into the crowd and advance as rapidly as we could in front of the lines of cavalry and infantry. The the lines of cavalry and infantry. The general expression was horror. Some looked pale, others shed tears, others ghastly and livid. One of our party complained of severe neuralgic pain that shot through his forehead as the ax fell. The general aspect of the crowd-a crowd of men turning from the guillotine—was striking and painful. It was horror.

DR. M. W. CASE'S Liver Remedy BLOOD PURIFIER Tonic and Cordial. This is not a patent medicine, but is preparation of the direction of Dr. M. W. Case, from a favorite prescription, which in an extens practice of over twenty-seven years he has founds teffective in all cases of disordered liver impure blood. It is ANTI-BILIOUS. It acts directly upon the liver, restoring is when diseased to its normal condition; and irrequisiting the activity of this great gland every other organ of the system is benefited. In Blood Diseases it has no equal as a purifier. It improves digestion, and assists nature to eliminate all impurities from the system; and while it is the cheapest medicine in the market, it is also superior to all known remedies. While it is more effectual than Blue Mass, it is mild and perfectly safe, containing nothing that can in the slightest degree injury the system. It does not sicken or give pain; neither does it weaken the patient nor leave the system constipated, as demost other medicines.
